

Hello,

I have been receiving pop up messages from various internet spammers, through a built in windows messenger service that comes with Windows 2000. I recently received a message explaining how my

I.P. address is being broadcast to spammers through this messaging program. The address of this website is

WWW.STOPMESSENGER.COM,

which also turned out to be an advertisement. I have deleted the program from my computer, and still these messages pop up.

If you could please visit this website and figure out if this constant harassment is legal I would really appreciate it.

Thanks alot,

Josh Hiraheta

Licensing Media is the Publics domain and to be done for the greatest benefit for the people of this country. Corporate interests must be second to the publics interest. Giving away the access to information, places severe constraints on our right to a free press and to diverse content in programing. I know it is wrong to allow the greed of a very few with economic clout to trample the freedoms of this countries people.
